Call for Abstracts

Global Health Symposium 2015: Advancing Health in an Interdependent World

Deadline: 5 p.m., Monday, February 16, 2015

The Global Health Institute (GHI) at the University of Wisconsin-Madison announces a call for abstracts for the Global Health Symposium 2015—Advancing Health in an Interdependent World. The symposium begins at 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, April 8, 2015, and will be held in multiple rooms on the first floor of the Health Sciences Learning Center. Dr. Keith Martin, executive director of the Consortium of Universities for Global Health and former member of the Canadian Parliament, will be the keynote speaker.

UW-Madison faculty, staff, and students who are addressing global health and disease are invited to submit abstracts and present their work to an expected audience of more than 300 university and community members. From basic research to education to applied projects in the field, the symposium hopes to showcase the full spectrum of UW-Madison global health activity. We encourage presentations from all disciplines—from arts, agriculture, and business, to education, engineering, and humanities, to all of the health sciences and more.

Following the keynote address, selected faculty, staff, and students will present their work in 15-minute (including time for questions), concurrent sessions. Posters will be available for viewing all evening, and a poster session follows the oral presentations. Hors d'oeuvres will be served during the networking reception that closes the evening.

ABSTRACT REQUIREMENTS:

Please submit your abstract by email to Betsy Teigland at the Global Health Institute (teigland@wisc.edu). Abstract project descriptions are limited to 300 words. The abstract submission form is attached and can be found online. You are also encouraged to read the “Guidelines for Global Health Presentations.”

The deadline for submissions is 5 p.m., Monday, February 16, 2015. You will be notified of the status of your application by March 13, 2015.

For more information, please contact Betsy Teigland at teigland@wisc.edu or 608-262-3862.

The Global Health Symposium is open and free-of-charge to the university and wider communities. We look forward to receiving your abstract and showing how UW-Madison is addressing the complex and interdependent determinants of health and disease.
